REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE GREELEY PUBLIC LIBRARY.

During the library year just closed, the trustees have added 109 new books, making the total number of volumes now in the library 2,964.

These new books are classified as follows :

Biography,	11
Drama and poetry,	2
Fiction,	44
Juvenile fiction,	21
History,	16
Miscellaneous,	4
Reference,	6
Science,	3
Voyages and travels,	2
	————— 109

A supplementary catalog of these books follows this report.

The monthly average of books loaned for the last year, as appears by the report of the librarian, was 222.58, and the total number for the year is 2671. This is an increase over the previous year of 904 books loaned, or more than 51 per cent, and is the largest number loaned in any year since the library was established.

There was also an increase of about 27½ per cent in the number of library cards issued.

Books, magazines, periodicals and other publications have been generously donated to the library by its friends—citizens, summer residents and others.

These publications are extensively read and add greatly to the usefulness of the library.

All such books and periodicals are gratefully received, and to all such donors—resident and non-resident alike—we tender our most hearty thanks for their kind generosity and good will.

The following is a list of magazines and periodicals given by citizens and others:

The Healthy Home, Mrs. B. F. Morrill.

Peterson's Magazine, Mrs. Emma C. Davis.

The Housekeeper, The Housewife, Good Literature, and others, Mrs. Jesse R. Wilkins of Milford, N. H.

National Magazine and Success, Miss Mittie H. Baker.

Brown Book of Boston, The Strand, The Smart Set and Wisdom, Mrs. G. G. Andrews.

Century Magazine, Miss Mary E. Pollard.

Medical Times, Saturday Evening Post, Literary Digest and Outlook, Dr. Alfred K. Hills.

Frank Leslie's, The Modern Priscilla, Mrs. C. H. Stearns.

A number of books and miscellaneous magazines were given by Mrs. H. M. Willoby.

Four books were given by Mr. Henry O. Proctor of Nashua.

Others have given books and odd numbers of magazines, all of which have been thankfully received.

Our librarian, Miss Maude S. Andrews, after having filled the position and performed the exacting duties of the office for six years years now enters upon her seventh year of service.

Ever conscientious and faithful in the performance of her official duties, correct in all her transactions, courteous and obliging to all patrons, she has justly merited the unanimous confidence and approbation of all those having business relations of any kind with the library.

Supplementary catalogs of the new books may be obtained from the librarian.

Notice was given in our report of last year that the librarian had begun a scrap book which was intended especially to contain clippings relating to local affairs of our town and its citizens, and soliciting such clippings from citizens. Such a book may become very interesting and valuable. When one shall have been filled, another will be begun. Much of our local history may be preserved in this way.

Thanks to all who have contributed articles in the past ; and we would especially urge citizens to remember to preserve all such articles of local interest and see that they are placed in the hands of the librarian.

The number of cards used during the year is 223. Some of them have been used constantly, and others for only a few times.

One teacher's card has been issued.

KIMBALL WEBSTER,
FRANCES M. CUMMINGS,
HENRY O. SMITH,

Trustees.

SCHOOL REPORT.

The number and location of our schools were the same during the spring term as they were during the preceding year, the children from No. 9 being conveyed to the Smith School at the same rate of compensation paid during the year preceding. An increase in the number of children in the district necessitated the opening of the No. 9 school in September, there being sixteen scholars registered during the fall term, with an average attendance of nearly eleven.

The Hudson, Pelham & Salem Electric Railway beginning its car service about the middle of September, the conveyance of the children from District 3 to the Smith school was discontinued and the children carried by the electrics to the Webster building.

The No. 2 house has received an additional coat of paint, while the ceiling and walls of No. 1 house have been tinted and the woodwork and desks given a coat of shellac.

The insurance on the Webster and Smith buildings and also on the houses in Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 7 have been renewed for three years.

The premium due on the insurance of the Webster building has not been paid, as the reduction of the excessive rate at first demanded by the underwriters has not been arranged in a manner satisfactory to your Board.

The committee on water supply at the Smith school has solved the problem by the construction of an underground cistern lined with brick and containing a brick filter. The supply of water now seems to be ample and the quality appears to be satisfactory to all concerned.

At the last annual meeting of the school district it was voted to authorize the school board to unite with other towns in the formation of a supervisory district for the purpose of employing a superintendent of schools, and a sum of money was raised to carry this vote into effect. Your board immediately entered into communication with the proper officials of several other towns which had passed similar votes, Wilton, Milford, Pembroke and Pittsfield amongst others, but it was found impossible to enter into a combination with any of these. Finally, arrangements were made by which Hudson became a member of a supervisory district which included the towns of Salem, Epping, and Hampstead. By virtue of these arrangements Hudson is entitled to one-fifth of the superintendent's time and is responsible for one-fifth of his salary.

It should be noted, however, that the town raises but one-half of its proportion of the salary by taxation, the other half being contributed by the state.

At a meeting of the school boards of these four towns Mr. Edgar E. Hulse, who had already served Salem, Epping and Hampstead for a year in a similar capacity, was chosen superintendent of schools.

Mr. Hulse is a man of fine attainments with a natural taste for pedagogy and has had much practical experience in the exercise of the art. The supervisory arrangement going into effect on August 1, the district had the benefit of skilled supervision of its schools during the fall and winter terms. Your careful attention is invited to the report of the superintendent which is well worthy of much thought and study on the part of all interested in bringing our schools to the highest point of efficiency.

CLARENCE E. WALCH,
HENRY O. SMITH,
J. H. LE GALLEE,

School Board of Hudson.

At the annual joint committee meeting of the Salem supervisory district, held at Epping on May 26, 1902, I was given permission to spend some time during the spring term in visiting your schools. I took this opportunity June sixth and seventh.

My observations and impressions led me to conclude that your schools were in fair condition.

The work being done was rather disconnected, and the grading not the best. There seemed to be a lack of definiteness as to the amount of work to be accomplished each year and a need of a systematic and well corrolated outline which should be followed carefully and intelligently, in preparing for the high school.

Such an outline, well grasped and followed by teachers and pupils will place the schools in a position to know just where each pupil stands at any time, and will encourage and stimulate a better attendance and increased interest, and also have a tendency to make pupils wish to finish the home course of study before going elsewhere.

The grading also needs some revising. Instead of having two divisions of the same grade, (or two third grades.) in two different rooms and under two teachers, it would seem more economical in the matter of time, at least, to have all pupils in the same grade together and under one teacher.

The spirit of the school, and so far as I could judge, the quality of the work being done in school No. 1 was excellent. The same was true of the Webster School.

The order and discipline of this school was especially good. The general appearance and spirit throughout the school indicated a wise and careful management on the part of its teacher.

This element was somewhat lacking in the Smith school. A lack of restraint, and spirit of indifference on the part of the pupils seemed to prevail.

In order to have a good school, not only must the teacher display ability and tact, but there must be a willing and obedient service on the part of the pupils and a practical interest manifested by the parents. Any one of these elements being wanting, the school will surely fail to give its best service.

It appeared to me, also, that more time and attention was being given to the subjects of arithmetic and geography than properly belonged to them, and that the reading and language work had consequently suffered. This is an error too often committed in the distribution of time for the various subjects in our school curriculum.

In my judgment reading should be given first place in our schools, at least until the child becomes an intelligent and fluent reader. Next place should be given to language work.

In making this review of my impressions regarding your schools, I have thus far presented but one phase. It is fair to you, and a pleasure to me, to give you the other side :

I found first of all an intelligent and progressive school board, anxious to see the schools raised to a high standard of efficiency, and ready and willing to help the superintendent in every possible way.

I found your teachers to be energetic and faithfully endeavoring to give the children good training, and ready to act upon any suggestion that I have been able to make.

My subsequent and frequent visits to your schools verify my first impressions, that in point of mental ability and disposition your pupils rank above the average of most other towns and cities. I am impressed that more than usual interest is manifested in the school affairs of your town by its citizens. This is evidenced by the advanced position you take in relation to consolidation, and the commodious and well equipped school buildings which you have erected in your center.

Both the Webster and Smith buildings are models in every particular, and you are to be congratulated on their possession.

Whatever of value may have been accomplished in the year just closing must be attributed largely to these agencies; and because of these favorable conditions my work in your schools, and among you, has been a pleasure and delight.

Our first move was to regrade some of the pupils and outline a more definite course of work for the coming year. Accordingly all children in the Webster school doing first and second year or grade work were so classed and assigned to Miss Deering in the primary room.

All pupils doing third grade work were put together and sent to the intermediate room with grades four and five, Miss Lenahan, teacher. Grades 6, 7, and 8 are in the grammar room, with Miss Gould as teacher. A similar work was done in the Smith school. Miss Nash has the primary room with grades 1, 2, and 3. Miss Giles occupies the grammar room and has grades 4, 6, and 8.

The tabulated outline of work being used in the Salem, Hampstead and Epping schools was made the basis of the work for the Hudson schools, our aim being, however, to modify it to conform to the requirements of the Nashua schools as far as possible.

Inasmuch as the Nashua high school naturally becomes the high school for Hudson pupils under the present high school laws, it would seem best to grade our schools and work to correspond as nearly as possible to those of Nashua, and offer a complete preparation for high school in our own schools.

With this idea in view a tabulated outline of a course of study for the Hudson schools has been carefully prepared, approved and adopted by the school board and has been appended to this report for the use of teachers, pupils and parents.

At the opening of the schools in September it was found by a canvass that there were more children living in school district No. 9 than could be conveyed conveniently and economically, so No. 9 school was reopened with Miss Stevens as teacher. Miss Stevens has done excellent work and been well received.

There have been some noteworthy changes in text books during the year. The old geographies have been displaced by new and up-to-date books, by the same author. A new series of arithmetics on the spiral plan has been adopted and books furnished to all pupils up to and including the seventh grade, also new primers have been purchased for all primary children.

A school can hardly be said to be well equipped without a set of good wall maps. A long felt need in the Hudson schools has been met during the year, by the purchase of two sets of Rand & McNally's cabinet wall maps, one set for the Smith school and one for the Webster school.

The instruction being given in vocal music is excellent, and the interest manifested by the pupils is good. Your attention is called to the report of the special teacher of music, Miss Farley, which follows this report. It is worthy of your careful reading.

Whatever touches life with an upward tendency is education. (Tompkins.)

The aim of education is to make man more and more a man of gentleness and reason. (Milne.)

Education is not a preparation for life, it is life itself. (Col. Parker.)

A fuller appreciation of the underlying principles of education would tend to increased interest in the great network of its institutions.

The public school plays a very important part in this life preparation, and touches us more closely than any other phase of education. It should receive careful attention and dignified consideration, not only by officials and those who have children to educate, but by every citizen of our commonwealth, because of its bearing upon the social, civil and religious life of future generations.

Mistakes have been made in the past and will continue to be made, doubtless, but the future is before us and should claim our best thought and most strenuous effort to make our schools as useful as possible.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to all who have in any way co-operated with me in promoting the educational interests of the town; to the school board for its wise counsel and approval; to the teachers for their willing help in putting into practice my suggestions ; and to the public for its kind consideration and encouraging words.

Respectfully submitted,

EDGAR E. HULSE,

Superintendent of Schools.

MUSIC TEACHER'S REPORT.

---

Mr. E. A. Hulse, Superintendent of Schools :

At your request, I will briefly set forth what the musical department of the Hudson schools has accomplished during the past year.

It is generally understood that the study of music in the schools is to make readers of music, and while our efforts are largely in that direction, we have tried to make the study of music correlate with all other studies. In no way can the child's heart be influenced more effectively than through the medium of music.

Although we cannot make accomplished musicians of our boys and girls in the school room, yet it starts many on the road to a higher musical education and they can not but be the better for the study.

We aim to impart to our pupils the knowledge of notes and theory of music.

The work in the upper grades has been successfully taught with the Educational Music Course ; in some of the rooms the children singing two part songs. In the intermediate grades the same course is used, the pupils in these grades reading in several keys. The district schools have taken much interest and made marked progress during the last year.

In the primary rooms rote songs and sight singing exercises have been used successfully. In these lower grades a love for music has been cultivated and a foundation for the work to come has been laid.

I would like to thank all who have contributed to the success of this work for their interest, yourself, the school board, and the teachers, for having so generously endorsed my plans.

Respectfully submitted,

ISABELLE M. FARLEY,

Director of Music.
